The Dog Days of Summer and the Church Year Ahead

I saw this picture on the internet and couldn't wait to share it with you all... Isn't it appropriate for how we've all felt in the last few weeks?

Wish I had the ice right now... Hmmmm!

We are at that time of year when everything seems to slow down.... Right. Though we might want it to, the truth is most of us end up asking, isn't it supposed to slow down? There seem to be just as many things to do if not more; and in fact when considering all the things we are planning for the fall, it might just be busier now than ever.

It is right in the midst of one of the busiest periods in the ministry of Jesus that Jesus challenges his disciples to "keep on keeping." Jesus points them to consider the lilies of the field and the birds of the air for examples of how they are also being cared for by God...and that does just what it needs to do. It shares with them what God has already done in the world and in their life. It reminds them that for all of time as they trust in God, somehow everything always will work out.

The challenge, though, for us again today, is not only hearing these words but also to step into and embrace the blessing they are meant to bring. Maybe, in the end, all we need is to do as Jesus said, "to consider the lilies of the field." Perhaps we only need to step outside and gaze at the sky, the still green grass, the now full green trees, and the summer flowers that wave in the warm summer breezes to be reminded of the gift Jesus offers now in pointing to God's tender care for all that is.

And so these words are ours, urging us to let go of the worry and to entrust whatever it is that would rob our lives of peace and joy, urging us to finally give it all back to God who gives us all of that for which we give thanks in the first place.

I challenge us all to think about the following:

- How do you hear Jesus' poetic words about the lilies of the field and his urging you not to worry? Besides lilies and birds, what else might you point to that would carry the same lesson? What does worry do to you? How do you manage to let it go? How do you think worry and gratitude are connected? What this Gospel lesson says to us as we spend these "Dog Days of Summer" and look ahead to the fall and the beginning of program year for the church?

Experiencing Jesus: Getting to Know Jesus Again

You are invited to be part of a ten session re-introduction to Jesus for adults. We'll be meeting on Tuesday evenings starting September 10 and then meeting on Sept. 17, 24, Oct. 8, 15, 22, 29, Nov. 12, 19, 26 with a closing celebration on December 10. The group will meet from 7-8:30 p.m. Beverages and snacks will be provided.

Based on the book Jesus by Marcus Borg, we'll all have a chance to "meet Jesus again." Frederick Buechner, another later 20th and early 21st century popular bible scholar describes the book this way: "Writing with a simplicity that never becomes simplistic, Borg manages to convey the essence of Christianity in a way that does justice to those who do not share his views and will greatly enrich the understanding of those who do."

We realize that this is asking our participants to make a major commitment but we can assure you it will be worth your while. Come to as many sessions as you can. Childcare will be provided.

Copies of the hardback edition of Jesus will be available at the much-reduced price of $5.00 to members of the class.

Return the flier (available in the Narthex or Fellowship Hall) to sign up.

Christian Education Corner – Mary Karlovec

It is hard to believe that August is here and we are already gearing up for fall. Vacation Bible School is over and I hope that a good time was had by all who attended. Fall Sunday School will not begin until Sunday, September 15 due to the Car Show on the 8th. I am looking for people who are willing to teach one of two classes: the Primary children (averages 4-6 on a Sunday) or our Senior High youth (averages 2-6 on a Sunday). If you are willing to teach on a rotating basis with one or two other adults, please email me at: cedirector@fccalive.org or stop me on Sunday mornings. As the year unfolds, we will be using some of the Faith Formation curriculum provided by the UCC to get our feet wet with this style of teaching Sunday School. It incorporates all of our learning styles and digs deeper into a specific theme or topic over a few weeks.

For the women of the church, the Women's Retreat information is here! We will be convening again at Punderson State Park in Newbury, Ohio the weekend of November 8-10. Details and a registration form are included in this Messenger. Information was also sent out to all the women of the church. If you register and pay your $50 deposit by August 30, you will receive a $25 credit towards your final balance. If you cannot pay the total by the September 30th deadline, please see Karen Veliconia or myself and we will work out a payment plan for you. Also, if you would like to go and this would be a financial hardship, please see us! We do not want anyone from the church to be unable to go due to money constraints. If you did not go last time, please talk to any of the 25 young adults and women who went. It was an amazing experience! Our theme this year "Ways to De-Stress Your Life through Meditation and Relaxation!"

Finally, Bob, Matt and I cannot express to you our gratitude and love for this church. You will never know how much your cards, notes, gifts, visits and support have meant. I truly believe that Matt is where he is at today because of the grace of God and this church family. Pastor Dave has been truly amazing and I believe God sent him to our church knowing what was ahead for us. Matt is SO looking forward to the Crushers game and throwing out the first pitch! Thank you to Diana Goode and our awesome secretary Linda Matis for organizing this fundraiser. A big thank you to "Uncle Jack" for making sure our lawn gets mowed and "Mom" Baker for being there for me on Sundays. She is always willing to listen and give me a hug just when I seem to need it. As I write this, Matt is making tremendous progress but we don't know yet what the future will hold. But with God's help "All things are possible!"

Outreach Committee News – Edie Phillips

Community Care: Children will be returning to school at the end of this month and many families cannot afford clothes. Outreach will be taking donations for basic needs – boys and girls shoes any size, socks, underwear, shirts, jeans size 8 and up, and any new clothes items. Bring your donations to the church and place them in the community care box.

Habitat for Humanity: Nancy and I attended an informative meeting to learn about the many volunteer opportunities and the many more services available through Habitat for Humanity. A ReStore has been opened in Lorain. The address is 214 East 34th St. Surplus materials or slightly damaged materials taken out of a remodel project can be donated. The general public can purchase any of these items at a greatly reduced price. One hundred percent of the profits support the mission of Lorain County Habitat for Humanity. Thanks to the dedicated and generous supporters and volunteers Habitat for Humanity has built or renovated over 226,000 houses, providing shelter to more than 1.1 million people nationwide. If you need more information call 440-244-1046 or email at: www.loraincountyhabitat.org or ReStore@habitatoflorainco.org

Book Sale: We will host a book sale in October so save your books. All proceeds will be given to Community Care. More information later.

Outreach Donation: Outreach voted to give $120 to Heifer International whose mission is to help the hungry become self-reliant. This was started in 1944 when Midwestern farmer and church leader Dan West rallied the support of his congregation to donate heifers to families in need.

“And if you give even a cup of cold water to one of the least of my followers, you will surely be rewarded.” Matthew 10:42

Pastor Parish Committee

The Pastor Parish Committee mailbox is a special communication area where the congregation can submit a written communique for the pastor or committee to review and hopefully resolve for all parties involved. The mailbox is located in Fellowship Hall by the back exit doorway. If you have any questions, please contact any of the following Pastor Parish Committee members: Nancy Franks, Edie Phillips, Bob Franks or Pat Kyle. Thank you.

From the Deacons’ Desk

During the choir’s summer hiatus we are seeking out individuals and/or groups who would be interested in sharing their musical/singing talents with the congregation during a worship service. If you would like more information, contact Pastor Dave or Kathleen Bosl, our music director. Sign up sheets are available in the Winckle’s Room and Fellowship Hall.

“Praise the Lord!

*How good it is to sing praises to our God;
for he is gracious, and a song of praise is fitting.”*

Trustees’ Turn – Roy Dreger

Well, another month has gone by since the last newsletter and the gutters are still not up. I guess when they said “next week” they knew that next week becomes this week when you get to it and “next week” is always in the future. I did find out that they had to replace 45 (roof) slate instead of the 12 they originally thought needed replacing, along with fixing the flashing around the chimney on the southeast corner of the sanctuary. When you get up about 45 feet and look closely you can see more than you can see from the ground. I hope that this fixes the roof for a long time. I am thankful that we have been able to do it prior to the painting of the ceiling.

Speaking of the ceiling, I talked with the painting contractors and they assured me we are still on their list. Due to the rainy weather we have had they have gotten behind on their outside jobs. I was reminded that they said it would be fall of 2013 or winter 2014 if they could not do it this last winter. I told him that I understood and knew that he had tried to do it this past March. I did not tell him that the leaky chimney flashing had caused more paint to peel in the area of the Mary and Martha window. (I don't know about you, but I find that window extremely inspiring when the sunshine lights it up.

The Trustees are getting estimates for various jobs. The estimate for getting the old boiler running as a backup to the new boiler came in and is (surprisingly) lower than expected. That and some pipe repair may be among the first items on the list to be accomplished. Someone came to estimate the cost of adding to the parking lot to make up for the parking lost when Center Ridge Road is widened, but that estimate is not yet in. A representative of Lorain Glass came in mid-July to give an estimate for a new overhang over the rear Fellowship Hall doors. The thought was that glass would be best so people leaving could see if there was any traffic. It would be nice to make it into an airlock to help keep in the heat during winter as well as keeping debris from gathering in front of the doors. The overhang has served the church well, but it has problems that will only get worse.

This article is being written after the second week in July when we had all the heavy rain. We had some water on the undercroft floor as well as by the doors to Fellowship Hall, including the west emergency exit door. Jimmy came up and tried "snaking" out the drain lines around the doors, but they may need additional work. When we get the new gutters, they may help eliminate some of the water in the undercroft in the future. The gutters will be the same size as the old ones, but the downspouts will be larger, allowing more water to be directed away from the church. Mary Karlovec reported some leaking in her new office area. There is a flat roof over this room that may need to be sealed. The roof will need to be looked at by someone knowledgeable.

All of these items will cost money, and while it is not known how much, it is money we may not have at this time. I mention this because stewardship is so important to the life of the church. The Trustees thank you for all that you have done, and appreciate your continued support.

Corn Festival Parade Float Update – Nancy Franks

By the time you get this newsletter the Corn Festival will be almost upon us. The Corn Fest runs Aug. 9, 10 and 11 with the Grande Parade occurring on Sunday the 11th. Our Heritage Float will enter the parade with people on it reminding everyone that from the pioneers who first came to the area to the members of present day, our church has been a place of hope, faith and love for all – 191 years of caring and sharing with others.

We will meet at Harry & Rosemary Berg's barn on Saturday, August 10 at 10 a.m. to construct the float. Float walkers/riders should meet at Berg's on Sunday, August 11 at 12:45 p.m. in pioneer outfits or shorts and blue t-shirts. We will gather again after the parade at Berg's to tear down the float, approx. 3 p.m.

My heartfelt thanks to all of you who worked and played together to make this happen. We did it together with God's blessings and it was great!

Car Show Information

With the Corn Festival float (almost) behind us...we're ready to tackle the next thing – the CAR SHOW on September 8 right after church is over. The show starts at 1 p.m. but you and I know from past experience, the car guys always come early. We need to be ready for them. Be sure to fill out the "honey-do list" (found later in this newsletter) so we have things covered. We need lots of door prizes. Follow the instructions on the list so you know what to do with items. We need money to buy the food so if you give a monetary donation, be sure to include your offering envelope number so you get credit for your donation. Please make checks payable to First Congregational UCC.

After church on August 18 in Fellowship Hall all helpers will meet with your coordinators so you will know what to do in your area. We will all be wearing blue shirts and car nametags so people will know we are their church friends.

The show is getting closer...help pass out flyers by taking some with you and ask your favorite business to display them on their register counter or community bulletin boards. More announcements as the show gets closer. Remember, this is an all-church fundraiser. We need your help to make it succeed!!

Any questions, or for more information, please contact Nancy or Bob Franks at 327-9647 or Alex or Jane Woravka at 748-2326.

Why Do People of Faith Care About Creation?

Caring for the Earth is a fundamental part of religious faith. Nearly every major faith tradition and Christian denomination has a statement about the need to respect, enjoy, and protect God's gift of the world around us. Read a collection of denominational creation care statements. Underlying these statements are a set of core values that speak to the heart of religious morals and ethics: spirituality, stewardship, sustainability, and justice.

Spirituality: Creation itself inspires us and calls us to care. Many people have had their most profound spiritual experience in nature. As we behold the power and love of God in a mountain range, a sunset, or in the timelessness of the ocean, we can't help but be moved. But creation also includes humans – our families, communities, and created landscapes. God created all things of Heaven and Earth and God is our inspiration to care for both wild places and our own cities and backyards.

Stewardship: Psalm 24 states that "the Earth is the Lord's and all that is in it, the world, and those who live in it." Humans simply hold the Earth in trust for God. We are tenants here, called to care for the creation on behalf of future generations and all species. The Bible calls us to "till and keep the garden" and names human beings as the trustees of creation. Because God created all the Earth and all of us, creation is beautiful and good and sacred. We are called by our devotion to God and our love for God's works to protect it.

Sustainability: At the heart of sustainability is the goal of meeting the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs. In a world of finite resources, those among us who have more than enough must address patterns of consumption so that we can provide for all. Acquiring more "stuff" has a direct effect on the sustainability of the planet and on the quality of life for people around the globe. The good news is that more and more people are realizing that spiritual emptiness can't be filled by consumption. What makes us happy is intimacy – intimacy with self, with others, and with God. In the end, sustainability means seeing ourselves and our neighbors as children of God, not as consumers or competitors for Earth's resources.

Justice: Justice means that in addition to providing aid to our neighbors, we are called to change societal systems that cause poverty, injustice, and environmental damage in the first place. It goes beyond helping to meet physical needs to creating a society with laws and policies that allow the needs of all Earth's inhabitants to be met. Care and responsibility for the "least of these among us" is a central tenant of Christianity and has a direct connection to environment issues. The impact of environmental degradation falls most heavily on the people around the world who are least able to mitigate these impacts — poor and vulnerable populations. It also disproportionately affects fragile plants, animals and ecosystems. Working for justice calls us to channel our faith into power, to call for social and environmental justice at the local, state and national level.

Water - On average, Americans use 80 to 100 gallons of water per day. According to a 2006 UNICEF report, 1.5 million children under five years of age worldwide die each year due to unsafe water and a lack of adequate sanitation and hygiene. Blessed with easily accessible water, we in the Western world often forget that water is a God-given gift, not a convenient miracle of municipal government and indoor plumbing. Without water, we, and the rest of God's beloved creation, would not have life. Certainly, the Great Work of protecting and restoring God's sacred waters can be challenging, frustrating and discouraging. But as people of faith, we need to step forward with the confidence remembering what Jesus told his disciples when they were discouraged: "For mortals it is impossible, but for God all things are possible" (Matthew 19:26).

Environmental Health -

More than 82,000 synthetic chemicals are registered for use in manufacturing and industry. Yet, only ten percent of those chemicals have been tested for their effects on human health. Every day we make choices about our daily living - from which transportation we use to what household cleaning products we choose, to our selection of lawn care products. We tend to think of these as individual decisions concerning only us, but we are called to consider how we are affecting all of creation.

What impact will our actions today have on those who come after us? What bearing will they have on our own lives? Are they helping to purify the body and spirit of creation? If we are able to discipline ourselves to regularly ask these questions and respond to them with the intention that comes from loving God first, then our work as stewards will ensure that all of creation can experience the Spirit of God flowing with each breath.

Earth Ministry is a lead on the Toxic Free Kids Act, a bill currently in the Washington state senate and house of representatives. This bill allows the Department of Ecology to act quickly to reduce and eliminate harmful chemicals in kids' products when there are safer alternatives. Working together, we can protect our children's health from cancer-causing flame retardants and help put businesses on the path to using chemicals that won't harm health, the environment, or their bottom line.

Ladies Book Club: We will meet with First Congregational Church Elyria for our joint picnic at the Metro Park Duck Pond in LaGrange between 5:00-5:30 pm on Wednesday, August 14. Meet up at our church at 5:00 pm to carpool. The September, October & November book club gatherings will be back at First Congregational UCC N.R. at 7:00 p.m.

August book: Sweetwater Creek From bestselling author Anne Rivers Siddons comes a bittersweet and finely wrought story of friendship, family, and Charleston society. Poignant and emotionally compelling, Anne Rivers Siddons's Sweetwater Creek draws you into the luminous landscape of the Low country. With characters that linger long after you've turned the last page, this engaging tale is destined to become an instant classic.

September 16th book: Magnolia Creek One of the most beloved authors in women's fiction today, Jill Marie Landis touches the heart as she illuminates every exhilarating page with natural warmth and tenderness. Now, in her stirring new novel, Landis takes readers to a place where pride can be as unforgiving as the past and finding the courage to love again will be nothing short of a miracle.
